Carb Date Code Sequence Change for 2007

We have revised the date code on all carburetors produced from January 2007 forward.

2007 Julian dating sequence is as follows:

First digit: Year in which the carburetor was manufactured.

Last three digits: Day in which the carburetor was manufactured

Example Julian date: (7026) This carb was manufactured on the 26th day of 2007.

How is this different from previous years?

2006 and older production Julian dating sequence was as follows:

First three digits: Day in which the carburetor was manufactured

Last digit (4th digit): Year in which the carburetor was manufactured

Example Julian date: (0106) This carb was manufactured on the 10th day of 2006.

Important Notes

- Write the date code on the receipt when you sell a carburetor
- When a customer returns an Edelbrock carburetor, always match the date code and part number to the customers receipt
- Edelbrock Performer Series Carburetor Warranty is 90 days, Thunder Series AVS Carbs are one year
- Inspect carburetor for signs of abnormal abuse, such as fire damage, missing parts, extremely dirty, etc.
- If the date code is over 1 year from the day of return, it is probably not within the 90-day warranty period
- Please take a close look at Julian dates for a correct warranty return

Helpful Hint

To help your customer with preventative maintenance always recommend that an "in-line" fuel filter be added when using an Edelbrock carburetor such as Part #8134 for Performer & Thunder Series Single Feed, or #8133 for Thunder Series Dual Feed. This will help prevent debris from entering the carburetor during installation as well as daily usage, thus reducing the chance of needless warranty return.
